

Maryam Parviz, MD

Surgical Oncologist and Breast Surgeon

Education

Medical School:

- Medical College of Wisconsin; Milwaukee, WI

Residency & Internship:

- Medical College of Wisconsin (General Surgery); Milwaukee, WI
- Royal Devon & Exeter Hospital (Breast Surgery); Exeter, England

Fellowship:

- Virginia Commonwealth University's Medical College of Virginia (Surgical Oncology); Richmond, VA

Other:

- Medical College of Wisconsin (Cardiothoracic Surgery Research); Milwaukee, WI
- Virginia Commonwealth University/Medical College of Virginia (Cancer Immunotherapy Research); Richmond, VA

Certification

- American Board of Surgery: Surgery

Honors & Memberships

- Spokane County Medical Society
- Society of Surgical Oncology
- American College of Surgery
- Recipient of the Outstanding Surgical Trainee Award from the British Journal of Surgery

Special Interests

Dr. Parviz has focused exclusively on cancer surgery since joining Cancer Care Northwest in 2003. Her areas of specialty and extensive training include care and surgical management of all gastrointestinal cancers, breast cancer, melanoma and soft tissue sarcomas, as well as pancreatic and hepatobiliary (liver) cancers.